IT IS ALL MIXED UP.

A Meeting of the Subscribers to the Travelers' Club House Fund.

THEY DEMAND AN EXPLANATION.

Two of the Collectors Absent Themselves Without a Statement.

WELL KNOWN FIRMS ARE INVOLVED

Affairs in that Commercial Travelers' Club are not only at a standstill for the present, but in a decided mix. This is largely due to the failure of Messrs. Ford and Dearborn to put in an appearance at the meeting of subscribers to the clubhouse fund yesterday afternoon and make a muchdesired statement. Mr. Ford is said to be sick and Mr. Dearborn has declared his intention to withdraw.

It was stated at the meeting yesterday that Messrs. Ford, Godfrey, Wells and Dearborn acted as collectors of the subscriptions, and Mr. F. K. Kohler, the Treasurer, who is anxious to be relieved of the responsibility, holds $595, of which sum he has paid out $95. Colonel Sam Moody, representing Mr. Van Dusen, of the Pennsylvania Company, appeared at the meeting and stated that his superior officer had paid to someone $100, and he wanted to know who had the money. Mr. Kohler promptly said it was not turned over to him, and Messrs. Godfrey and Wells, who were present, said they knew nothing about it. MANY MORE DISSATISFIED. When the meeting had been called to order When the meeting had been called to order Mr. Cochrane, of the Bindley Hardware Company, wanted to know if the actual membership of the club was from 5,000 to 7,000, and when told that it was not he said the solicitor had made such a representation to his firm; and if it was not true they would withdraw eir money at once. It was finally decided that Mr. Kohler should

It was finally decided that Mr. Kohler should hold the money in his possession until after the charter had been secured on July 20.

Mr. Wells said that he had paid certain legitimate bills and he was anxious to know who would pay them. He had vouchers from railroads amounting to $300, and he suggested that this money be given to Mr. Kohler and that the latter pay the bills.

Mr. Kohler emphatically stated that he would receive no more money nor pay any bills. Some of the subscribers suggested that Mr. Wells have the vouchers cashed and pay the expenses out of this money, but Mr. Wells was afraid that the railroads and the others would not pay him, since he was a stranger. This maiter was discussed pro and con, but no conclusion was reached.

ter was discussed pro and con, out no conclusion was reached.

Mr. Cochrane wanted to know next why Messrs. Ford and Dearborn were not present. Mr. Robinson, of the Carbon Iron Company, said that the solicitor had represented to his firm that about 50,000 commercial men visit Pittsburg in a year, and the object was to establish club rooms for the drummers. FACTS LEAKING OUT.

The H. C. Frick Company was represented at the meeting by M.M. Bosworth. Mr. Godfrey de-clared his intention to go ahead with the club, even though it had in some unaccountable manner received a black eye. The subscribers are distrustful, he admitted. The expenses of the excursion are yet to be paid, and in addithe excursion are yet to be paid, and in addition a pamphlet in the shape of an advertisement, giving the programme, was printed. They will be distributed later. A sample copy was produced. Colonel Moody looked at the contract or order Mr. Van Dusen had sigued, and it was in payment for an advertisement, when he said that Van Dusen had told him that the money was contributed to furnish club rooms. Looking at the advertisement, he remarked that $100 was a dear price to pay for it.

Here the mat-ter stands for the present, and what the out-come will be nobody knows. The subscribers will wait until the club is organized and the charter secured. Everybody admits that the idea is excellent if put into execution prop-

AN AGREEABLE CHANGE.

Fairly Comfortable Temperature Here and Elsewhere.

Though the temperature was high enough jesterday to suit snakes and other cold-blooded people, it was about eight degrees cooler than that of the previous day, and the breeze and showers made it quite agreeable by way of contrast. The reports in the Signal Service coffice show that throughout the West generally, covering several degrees of latitude, they had about the same temperature as here, and on the whole it was reasonably comfortable.

Here we had, at 8 o'clock A. M., 75°, at 12 M., 82°; at 2 P. M., 82°, and at 8 P. M., 77°. The mean was 71°, maximum 80°, minimum 72°, and range 14°.

ONE MAN OBJECTED.

ecause the Westinghouse Electric Interests Were to be Consolidated-The Consolidation Took Place All the Same-Some Marvelous Facts and Figures.

The Westinghouse Electric Company was rechristened yesterday, and hereafter it will be known as the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. When the electric company was first organized the organizers took out an ordinary charter covering the requirements of such a corporation. But since the concern has grown to such enormous proportions the old charter has been found to be utterly inadequate to the demands of the increased interests of the firm, and Mr. Westnghouse has been constantly on the alert for a new charter to take the place of the original new charter to take the place of the original one.

This was the purpose for which yesterday's meeting had been called. Mr. Westinghouse stated to the stockholders that he had secured the charter of the Chartiers Improvement Company, a document in which all the requirements of a large concern are very broadly covered. After Mr. Westinghouse had read the resolution for the adoption of the new charter, and Mr. Bannister had moved its adoption, a discussion took place. Brief remarks were made by Mr. R. Pitcairn, Mr. Gill, Mr. William A. Quincy and several other gentlemen, who were all in favor of the change.

One stockholder, however, Mr. Allan Marthens, who owns 29 shares, objected very emphatically in a paper he had prepared. He attempted to prove the failacy of all cousolidation schemes, and as an example he cited the Pennsylvania Hailroad Company and the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company. Of the B. & O. Railroad he said: "The stockholders of that road were not satisfied with the railroad business, but they needs must go into the express and telegraph business, and thus they lost money."

JOHN DALZELL EXPLAINS. The gentleman was interrupted by one of the tockholders, who said he thought it would be better to have that speech printed and mailed to members, that they might read it at their leisure. Mr. Gill objected to it altogether beleisure. Mr. Gill objected to it altogether because, he said, it was irrelevant.

At the suggestion of Mr. Westinghouse Mr. Martnens said he would confine himself to the matters of the company. He then remarked that the affairs of the company had a hazy look, which he thought ought to be explained to him.

A. this point Hon. John Dalzell said: "I see that the gentleman does not understand the object of this meeting, and as the counselor of Mr. Westinghouse I will explain it. The Westinghouse Electric Company does not want to consolidate with the Chartlers Improvement Company. What it wants is the charter. The Electric Company has grown since its first organization and the old charter does not allow it to grow any more. The new charter was bought to give the concern an opportunity to increase as much as it pleases, and, of course, the larger the concern becomes the more advantageous will it be for the stockholdera."

Mr. Pitcairn humorously remarked that under the more advantageous will it be for the stock-holdera."

Mr. Pitcairn humorously remarked that under the new charter they were in a position to own the earth, if they could get it. Then a vote was taken and the resolution was unanimously adopted. Out of $99.145 of outstanding shares $75,000 were represented.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company controls the following electric interests: The Westinghouse Electric Company, the Consolidated Electric Company, the United States Electric Company, the Westinghouse Electric Company of England and various other smaller concerns.

WHERE IT MAY END.

Mr. Westinghouse stated vesterday afterno that his company is now in a better shape for that his company is now in a better shape for doing the largest business in the United States of any electric concern in the country. The capital stock is still $5,000,000. The consolidated concerns have now 2,000 people employed. They manufacture 8,000 incandescent lamps per day, and they do a business of $12,000 per day, or about $4,000,000 per year. The works on Garrison alley are being enlarged. It is not improbable that the consolidation with the Edison Company is now much nearer realization than ever before. Several of the prominent officers of the firm stated yesterday that they would not consolidate even if advances were made to them. But another gentleman, who is prominently identified with the natural gas interest of this city, said there was no doubt that a consolidation would be effected before long.

The story of the assault, as told by Haney, was that last evening, Marks, as told by Haney, was that last evening, Marks, who is an ice cream vender, was pushing his cart along Fort street. Haney went out to purchase some ice cream and gave the man a quarter to pay for it. The Italian then, it is alleged, without cause, assaulted Haney, striking him in the face with a cup and afterward stabbing him on the head with a knife, making an ugly wound. Haney was also brought to the lockun, and his cut was attended to by Police Surgeon Oldshue. There will be a hearing in the case this morning.

ROOFING THE PENS

A Great Improvement Being Made at the East End Stock Yards.

THE CATTLE WILL BE COVERED. How the Work is Progressing and When It Will be Completed.

SHIPMENTS OF STOCK DECREASING

The work of reroofing the cattle, hog and sheep pens at the East End stockyards proves to be a big contract. Mr. Cable R. Martin, the yard master the stockyards, said yesterday in answer to queries: "The work of reroofing the stock pens was commenced about May 15, but owing to the Johnstown flood the work has been delayed. It is the intention of the stockyard managers to place new roofs over all the pens—about 225 in number. Of this number about one-fourth are now completed, but the work would have been much further advanced if the railroad company had not taken the 30 carpenters engaged in the work to the flooded district. New tences are also being erected. It will give you an idea of the enormity of the work when it is stated that the cattle pens are 40 by 80 feet, and the hog and sheep pens little less in size. There are about 60 cattle sheds to be roofed yet and about twice that number of other pens. The horse pens will not be reroofed, as they were only built last

"As to the amount of lumber used and the "As to the amount of lumber used and the total cost of the work I cannot give any correct figure, but think that millions of feet of lumber will be used and thousands of dollars expended before the work is completed. Two months at least will be consumed before the work is all done. There will be no improvements made in the pens, as they are now about as complete as it is possible for them to be.

"There will also be a new freight office built that will occupy the ground on which the old one stood. The work of tearing down the ancient freight office is now going on. The new one will be modern in every respect. Other improvements will also be made as there is plenty of room on the 50 acres to make them. What they will be I cannot at present say, but the railroad company is going to make the yards a model in every way."

Mr. Martin stated that there is not as much stock received by far now as in years past. He said the reason was that Chicago dressed beef is taking the place of shipments of live stock, and that the dressed beef trade is increasing yearly. He did not think that there was any chance whatever that shipments of live cattle would ever be a thing of the past, as Ohio and Indiana stock would always find a ready sale in local and Eastern markets. No idea of the decrease in shipments could be given.

The horse and mule stalls which were erected last year will accommodate 16 carloads of animals. The work is not being done by contract, but by the regular railroad carpenters. total cost of the work I cannot give any correc

THREE PICNICS.

A Rumor That a Child Was Killed at Boyce Grove Yesterday.

The children and their parents of the Fifth The children and their parents of the Fifth U. P. Church, corner of Wylie avenue and Franklin street, came in about 8:30 o'clock from Idlewild, on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

About 6 o'clock a picnic train came in on the Panhandle road, which brought a party from Boyce's Grove. The members of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, on Eighth street, had been at Boyce's Grove, and a conductor of the train said that one of the children had been killed in the grove, having been thrown from a swing. The latter rumor, however, could not be substantiated.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SCIENCE.

System Should be Adopted. The Sunday School Superintendents' Association of Allegheny County held a meeting at the Second Presbyterian Church, corner of Penn avenue and Seventh street, last night, about 50 Sunday schools of the two cities being represented. City Controller E. S. Morrow. President of the association, presided. W. C. Lilley, Esq., read a paper on "The Sab-

William F. Maxon, Eeq., with a paper, "Order of Exercises."

Mr. Lilley placed the superintendent of a Sunday school second only in importance to the pastor of a congregation. The successful superintendent was at once a hard worker, a zealous Christian and a good, systematic manager. One of the most important features of his work was to gain a personal acquaintance with every pupil in his school and some information concerning his family and surroundings, so that when addressing the pupil whenever they met, either on the street or in the church building, he could speak of matters that would show his interest in the pupil's welfare. He also advocated a system of membership certificates somewhat similar to those used by churches, so that when a pupil changed his residence his membership certificate could be used to introduce him in his new location and hold his interest in the work.

Mr. Nixon advocated a printed order of exercises to be furnished to each pupil as a means of simplifying the work of the superintendent and assisting in the education of punils. Other gentlemen present criticised methods proposed and exchanged opinions on the best plans for increasing the interest of pupils in Sunday school work.

THE GRAIN LOUSE.

A Feature That is Having an Effect Upon the Ohio Crops. PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. COLUMBUS, July 11.—The following is the re port of the State Board of Agriculture for July l on crops and stock estimates, returned by about 600 regular township courespondents, representing every county in the State: Wheat, condition compared with a full average 84 per cent, area plowed up and put in other crops, 1; corn, area compared with 1888, 96, condition compared with a full average, 78; potatoes, area compared with 1888, 93, condition compared with a full average, 94; wool clip compared with average of last five year's, 84.

The correspondents' figures make no material change in the condition of wheat since the report of June 1, the present estimate falling but 1 point below the 85 per cent estimates then made, so the prospect in bushels is still shown to be about 25,000,000. Nearly every township reports the wheat infested by the grain plant louse, and in many sections to an alarming extent, yet it would appear from the estimates placed on wheat by the correspondents, that the insect has done no serious damage. The result of its appearance will, however, be better known in the handling of grain after harvest, when much of the wheat, especially late sown, may prove to be of an inferior quality hadiy shrunken. It is hardly possible on crops and stock estimates, returned narvest, when much of the wheat, especially late sown, may prove to be of an inferior quality, badly shrunken. It is hardly possible that this plant louse should appear in such wast numbers without resulting in some injury to the crops infested by it. The wheat prospect, as stated in the June report, shows a shortage of 1,000,000 compared with average of last seven years.
